

Stop Off in New Caledonia.

Hi folks,

Thought I would share a few Renault photos I took recently on our P&O Cruise. We only had a couple of hours in Noumea but I think I saw more Renaults in that time than I have seen in my life. I tried to grab photos of some of the more interesting ones but difficult to do on the move. Saw a number of Laguna and Megane hatch taxis over there. Also saw a small car that had me puzzled as to what it was but could never get close enough to one to find out other than to note it had the ugliest badge on the front of the car that I have seen in a while, even worse than a Proton. The car other wise looked nice in a small four door car way. I finally got close to a dilapidated one at Lifou and the ugly badge had DACIA on it. The boot lid of the car had a LOGAN badge and in small text below that 'By RENAULT'. Unfortunately I don't have any photos of one to show you, the later car was occupied by a large and seemingly not so friendly local so I wasn't going to chance it.

Cheers
